Intellezy's Learning & Development Services

We provide a range of innovative and impactful solutions that help forward-thinking companies train, reskill, and upskill their teams for the future of work. Take a look to learn how we are Revolutionizing Learning.

Training Video Library

Our robust training video library features thousands of videos comprising hundreds of courses focused on the most widely used software, including M365, Google Workspace, and Adobe Creative Cloud, as well as must-have power skills. Our expert instructors remain on-screen for the duration of each video, engaging learners with a face-to-face experience. Our video library is consistently refreshed to remain current with the latest software updates, and nearly all our videos are available in 20 languages through on-screen captions. Our videos help drive the adoption of new technology, support digital literacy, and narrow skills gaps.

AR & VR Solutions

Take your Learning & Development offerings to the next level with augmented reality (AR) and virtual reality (VR) learning solutions from Intellezy. We partner with you to create a blended learning solution that includes eLearning, video, VR, AR, and more.

Custom eLearning Development

Our team can create custom interactive eLearning modules and courses, which can include quizzes, drag-and-drop interactions, screen recordings, and more, using authoring tools such as Storyline or Captivate. These types of eLearning modules allow for more user interactivity during the course.

Online Learning Platform

Our industry-leading platform is lightweight, flexible, and easy to navigate for both users and administrators, with a variety of valuable features. Our streamlined platform allows your learners to access our award-winning training video library, deliver your own proprietary eLearning content, or both. Additionally, our platform offers selective white-labeling to reflect your branding for a seamless learning experience.

Learning Strategy

From consulting services for building a culture of learning to training plan development for new software or initiative rollouts to "train the trainer" services to upskill L&D teams, we focus on building award-winning learning tools and supporting our clients with robust Learning & Development services. Our consultants are experts in the field of Learning & Development with years of experience building, developing, supporting, and applying proven instructional design models and learning theories.

Training Delivery

We offer best-in-class live training delivery for virtually any training engagement. Our team of L&D professionals are regularly upskilled to remain cutting-edge in our delivery, with topics ranging from the latest technologies & power skills to custom solutions & trends. Our diverse team of trainers are well-versed in adult learning theory and instructional design, which ensures learners meet intended outcomes. Our live training delivery is available in person or remotely using your preferred platform.

Change Management

An increasingly remote global workforce and advances in immersive tech and AI have led to never-before-seen challenges that we can help you maneuver with certainty. Our end-to-end strategies are custom-tailored to your organizational goals and culture to drive innovation and impact. Our comprehensive process creates buy-in at all levels of your team, whether you're revamping business processes, upgrading software, or implementing new technology.

Staff Augmentation

Intellezy can provide learning and development specialists to provide strategy development, needs analysis, instructional design, program planning, eLearning development, and job aide and FAQ creation. Our talent can conduct both instructor-led training as needed. Our staff augmentation model allows you to achieve advanced learning and development initiatives without needing to hire full-time staff.
