Who We Are:

The International Coaching Federation Foundation strives to increase the effectiveness of social change organizations through professional coaching. Together with our parent organization, the International Coaching Federation (ICF), the world's largest organization of professionally trained coaches, the ICF Foundation is focused on the social impact professional coaching can have on humanity and the planet.

What We Do:

Professional coaching has the power to transform social impact organizations, increasing performance and effectiveness. ICF Foundation has launched global initiatives to accelerate and amplify systemic change in these organizations.

How Can We Partner?

The ICF Foundation is excited to open new opportunities for strategic alliances through coaching programs, branding opportunities and winning partnerships that lead to social impact. Partnering with the Foundation will create global impact. Partnerships could look like:

- Sponsoring in support of current pro bono coaching initiatives.
- Working jointly to create a pilot initiative that supports your social change organization.
- Co-create conversations to explore what is possible with your coaching work to have societal impact.
