docebo® Flow

Inject learning directly into the flow of work

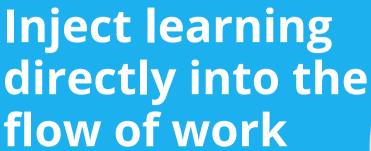

Work and learn—at the same time

Docebo Flow brings learning into the applications your learners use everyday day.
So you can keep your people in the know without taking them out of the flow of work.

Inject personalized learning experiences into your applications for convenient access to information on the fly.

Boost productivity with just-in-time, context-based learning that's served up when and where users need it most.

Insert learning content into your customer-facing applications to educate users, enhance your customer experience, and drive product adoption.

Support an always-learning culture with opportunities for continuous learning that allow people to work and grow at the same time.

Stay in the moment. Stay in the flow.

Talk to an expert today